Girl, 9, is Fatally Burned in Grass Fire

Was Playing in Field with Five-Year-Old Brother

Funeral Tuesday for Brenda Kay Brooks Of Near Broughton

A nine-year-old girl who lived five miles northeast of Broughton between Broughton and Norris City was fatally burned Saturday in a grass fire.

The child, Brenda Kay Brooks, was burned between 8 and 8:30 a. m. and died about 9 p. m. Saturday in the Ferrell hospital, Eldorado, where she was rushed. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ardie Brooks.

Coroner Elmer M. Gibbons, who made an investigation, set the inquest into her death for 7 p. m. tonight at Eldorado.

Coroner Gibbons said his investigation showed that Brenda Kay and a five-year-old brother were playing near where a brother, Ardie Ray Brooks, 15 years old, was plowing.

Ardie Ray, Gibbons said, set some grass afire to burn off a portion of the field and resumed his plowing.

Some neighbors, Clarence and Nellie McKenzie, heard the girl screaming a few minutes later and ran to the scene, where they found the girl burned and the five-year-old brother throwing dirt on her in an effort to extinguish the flames.

She was rushed to the hospital in Eldorado.

The girl was one of 10 children in the family, it was learned. Four are married.

Her body was taken to the Cox funeral home in Ridgeway, then returned to her farm home.

The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at Powell General Baptist church in White county east of Norris city. The Rev. Joe Campbell and the Rev. Madge Wilson will conduct the rites and burial will be in the church cemetery.

The little girl attended the grade school in Norris City.

Four Dead in Illinois Fires

By United Press

Four persons died in Illinois this weekend as a result of fires.

They included 60-year-old James Hughes, second deputy chief fire marshal of Chicago—ninth victim of Chicago hotel fire.

Hughes suffered a heart attack while fighting a blaze which killed eight persons in the Green Mill Hotel at Chicago late last month. He died in a hospital Sunday night.

Albert Weber, 60, perished Sunday in a blaze which swept through the shack where he lived in Oak Lawn, a Chicago suburb.

In southern Illinois, 9-year-old Brenda Brooks suffered fatal burns Saturday in a grass fire on her farm home near Broughton. She died a short time later in an Eldorado hospital.

At Montrose, Charles Hallett, 71, died when his clothes caught fire as he was sitting in a chair in his home. Effingham County Coroner Dr. George C. Wood said Hallett apparently fell asleep smoking a cigarette and probably died of burns, though he may have suffocated.

Two Moline firemen were hospitalized but reported not in serious condition when they were overcome by smoke while helping fight a blaze in the basement of a downtown store. They were James Murphy and William Lambert, each the father of five children.

City to Prosecute Violators of Cigarette Tax Ordinance

The city of Harrisburg has located some violators of the local cigarette tax ordinance and prosecutions will begin after today if the practice persists, the council announced.

The city has a tax of one-cent per package in the form of stamps that retailers must place on the cigarette packages. The tax was put on when the state legislature passed a bill requiring that all policemen and firemen in cities the size of Harrisburg must pay a minimum of $300 a month salaries.

The council reminded that the cigarette tax ordinance provides fines ranging from $1 to $200 for each offense, with each sale of an untaxed package constituting a separate offense.

Stratton Faces Mounting Demand from City Officials For Share in Sales Tax Hike

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Gov. William G. Stratton today faced a united demand by Illinois city officials for a split in his proposed state sales tax increase.

Chicago and downstate city administrations Saturday joined hands at a special Illinois Municipal League meeting here and passed a resolution for a two-year, 1-cent increase in the sales tax, with one-half the revenue going to cities according to population.

At a news conference 10 days ago, Stratton indicated he was opposed to such a split.

His plans calls for a one-year, 1-cent increase in the sales tax with the state keeping all revenues.

But the 150 city officials at the meeting handed wild applause to a message from Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley for the state-city sales tax split, then passed their resolution.

Hurry Remap Chores

Since the governor needs Daley's support in the mounting crisis over the rest of his legislative program, the Chicago mayor appears to be in a strong bargaining position on his revenue demands.

Stratton made a new court article his "No. 1" goal for constitutionality.

Grade School Band, Students Win State Ratings

The Harrisburg grade school band, directed by W. W. Chunn, received a first place rating in the state contest at Herrin Saturday.

Solo and ensemble contests were held Friday, with eight first superior ratings won by the Harrisburg students.

Winning superior ratings: Patricia Moore, flute solo, Class A; George Dennis, French horn; Terry Hegglin, snare drum solo; Alice Roberts and William Barnhill, clarinet duet; Miki Muggie and David Moore, cornet duet, all in Class B; Sally Davenport, B-flat clarinet solo; Kenneth Proffitt, bass solo; Dickie Scott and Reggie Blades, French horn and cornet duet, all in Class C.

First place ratings were awarded Janet Goltosky, Linda Skaggs, George Dennis, piano solos, all Class A.

First place ratings, Class B—Patricia Moore and Maridel Armistead, piano solo; Mary Gray, baton twirling; Miki Muggie, cornet solo.

Second place ratings, Class B—Alice Roberts, clarinet solo; Marilyn Brown, snare drum solo; Rita Davenport, Linda Hunter and Maridel Armistead, baton twirling; Larry Gene Bonnell, baritone saxophone solo; Miki Muggie, cornet solo; David Moore, cornet solo.

Third place rating, Class B—Linda Skaggs, snare drum solo.

First place ratings, Class C—Bob Brackney, bass solo; Rose Garavalia and Rowena Dennis, piano solos; Betty Jenkins, alto saxophone solo; Nancy Bramlet, Janet Goltosky and Rita Stump, flute solos; Edward Bowles, baritone solo; Jerry Barter and Douglas Young, clarinet duet; Elizabeth Morris and Eleanor Young, bass clarinet duet; Larry Bonnell and Betty Jenkins, alto saxophone duet; L. C. Kerley, French horn solo; Bruce Roper, trombone solo; Miki Muggie, Patricia Morrow, Mary Gray and Douglas W. Young, clarinet solos; Bruce Roper and Edward Bowles, trombone and baritone duet.

Second place ratings, Class C—Rose Marie Garavalia and Belle Turner, alto saxophone solos; Charles Seten, Reggie Blades and Dwight Bolerjack, cornet solos; Stephen Maszaros, baritone solo; Rita Stump and Sally Davenport, flute and clarinet duet; Dwight Bolerjack and Charles Seten, cornet duet; Richard Byrd and Charles Whitlock, trombone duet; Eleanor Young, bass clarinet solo; Rowena Dennis, bassoon solo.

Horace Brown Rites At Eldorado Today

Funeral services for Horace M. Brown, Eldorado resident who died Friday at 10:30 p. m. at the Marion Veterans hospital, will be held today at 5 p. m. at the Calvary Baptist church. Rev. C. C. Lowe will officiate, and burial will be in the Wolf Creek cemetery with military rites.

Mr. Brown was a member of the First Methodist church in Eldorado but services are not being held there because of a redecorating program now in progress.

The Martin funeral home is in charge.

Allies Needed, Radford Says At Aid Hearing

Urges Foreign Aid Program Be Continued

By United Press

Adm. Arthur W. Radford said today it would be a "dangerous misconception" to assume that U. S. superiority in modern weapons has reduced its need for Allies.

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff made the statement before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in arguing that the foreign aid program be continued.

The committee is considering President Eisenhower's $3,530,000,000 aid program, $1,717,200,000 of which is earmarked for military aid and the balance for economic help and "defense support."

"Our security today," Radford said, "is inextricably bound up with that of the other nations of the free world."

Other congressional news:

Minimum Wage: James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers' Union, told a Senate Labor subcommittee that the federal minimum wage should be increased from the present 75 cents an hour to $1.25. President Eisenhower has recommended a 90-cent minimum.

Farm Loans: Sen. Gordon Allott (Colo.) introduced a bill to establish a new loan program to enable farmers and stockmen to refinance, consolidate, renew or extend all or part of existing debts now burdening them in Colorado and adjacent states. Loans would be made up to 90 per cent of the value of the borrowers' farm and personal property.

Conference: Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.) advised against an international conference with a broad agenda, or one with no specific topics previously agreed upon. He suggested in a Senate speech, however, that if there is an international conference at which the sole subject is "universal, complete, controlled disarmament," it "might bear fruit."

Postal Pay: The House was ready to act on the postal pay raise bill today, although it still was out of line with administration requests and faced a possible presidential veto.

The measure would provide the nation's 500,000 postal workers with an average pay increase estimated at 3.5 per cent.

Husband of Former Local Woman Promoted To Full Professorship

Dr. Roscoe E. Peithman, husband of the former Miss Laura Jane Davenport of Harrisburg, has been promoted to a full professorship at Humboldt State college at Eureka, Calif. He is a professor of physical science.

Dr. and Mrs. Peithman have been in California seven years. A graduate of Southern Illinois university, he taught in the Tamaroa, Murphysboro and Salem high schools in southern Illinois. Mrs. Peithman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George O. Davenport of this city.

Orson Welles Honeymoons with Italian Countess

LONDON (UP)—Orson Welles, who came out of seclusion long enough Sunday to marry an Italian countess before breakfast, was honeymooning today in secret.

"I'm sorry I cannot tell where we are going," he told newsmen after the ceremony, "but I am sure you understand we want to be alone together."

Welles, 40-year-old actor, writer, director, producer and magician, married 24-year-old Paolina Mori, a little-known Italian actress who is also the Countess di Girfalco.

The ceremony was performed in grimy Caxton Hall registry office after Miss Mori routed registrar William Prince out of bed at 7 a. m. and announced she and Welles wanted to be married in 90 minutes.

Welles was married previously to Virginia Nicholson and to Rita Hayworth.

County is Overdrawn in Red Cross Blood Bank; Urge Donors May 26-27

Saline county is overdrawn at the bank—the Red Cross blood bank—the Saline county chapter pointed out today.

Just as in a financial bank, deposits must cover withdrawals in order to keep the account active, and to date, Saline county residents have used 547 pints of blood and have contributed 525 pints.

Here is the amount contributed and used by month for the fiscal year:

Month	Contributed	Used
July 1954	39	49
August	194	49
September 1954	None	63
October 1954	212	68
November 1954	None	55
December 1954	119	48
January 1955	None	65
February 1955	None	94
March 1955	None	66

As can be noticed from the figures, Saline county hospitals have been using Red Cross blood continuously, yet the bloodmobile has not been in the county since December.

WORKING BIRTHDAY FOR TRUMAN—A happy Harry S. Truman has reason to ring May 8 on his calendar, at Kansas City, Mo. The date marked his 71st birthday, and also the day that he turned the first spadeful of earth to start construction of the Harry S. Truman library at Independence, Mo. The 13-million-dollar structure will house documents connected with the eight years—1945-1953—of his presidency. (NEA Telephoto)

Public Health Service Expresses Faith in Vaccine; Check Stocks

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U. S. Public Health Service, asserting its "complete faith" in Salk shots, said today it hopes to get the nation's stalled polio vaccination program started again late this week.

Meanwhile, however, it strongly recommended that states hold up all inoculations until government experts run a new safety check on current vaccine stocks.

The service expressed hope that some double-checked vaccine will be cleared for public use in a few days. But it admitted it will be "later on" before the great bulk of present supplies are approved.

Delay is Advisable

This means millions of children will get their shots much later than expected—many when the polio season has reached or passed its peak. But Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, U. S. surgeon general, said the delay is advisable.

"We believe—and I am sure that the American people join us in believing," he said, "that in dealing with the lives of our children it is impossible to be too cautious."

Most states appeared ready to follow Scheele's lead. But at least one—Michigan—announced it has full confidence in the vaccine and is going ahead with its program.

Scheele announced the vaccine recheck Sunday night in a 2,400-word report based on a 10-day study of the problem by America's top polio experts, including Dr. Jonas E. Salk who developed the vaccine.

The statement climaxed a week of uncertainty and confusion in history's greatest mass immunization project.

Assures Parents

"I want first and foremost to assure the parents of children who have received an injection of polio vaccine this spring that in the very best judgment of the Public Health Service they have no cause for alarm," Scheele said in the report.

Scheele said the vaccine recheck is designed to iron out bugs in the production line and to provide "additional factors of safety in the distributed product."

Although Scheele said the vaccine review should delay the vaccination program only slightly, other experts think the timetable is going to be thrown considerably out of kilter.

On April 22, the government figured there would be enough vaccine by June 1 to give two-shot protection to 16 million children. On Friday, Scheele scaled the estimate back to about 12 million children. And the new delay is expected to reduce the total even further.

Illinois to Abide by Recommendation; Stress Vaccine Safe

CHICAGO (UP)—Illinois health officials said today they will abide by the recommendation to delay Salk polio shots, but reassured parents that the vaccine here is "safe."

Dr. Roland R. Cross, director of the Illinois Public Health Department, said Illinois would halt the vaccination program until the federal government gives the vaccine final clearance.

Cross added that there have been 350,000 inoculations in Illinois and he knows of no child which has had a "severe reaction."

"I believe Salk has got the right vaccine," Cross said. "It is just unfortunate the way things turned out."

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago Board of Health, said he would be "guided by the results of the government's double check."

Bunden said parents of Illinois children who already have received their first Salk shots "have nothing to worry about."

"I'm convinced the vaccine is safe—otherwise I would never have permitted the shots in the first place," Bundesen said.

Doctor, 94, Delivers 3,209th Baby, His Own, on Mother's Day

CLINTON, Iowa (UP)—Dr. John Hullinger, 94, celebrated Mother's Day by delivering his 3,209th baby. The baby was his own.

Hullinger's 34-year-old wife called it "the finest Mother's Day gift a woman could want."

Hullinger, who has practiced medicine for 64 years, delivered the 10 14-pound boy unassisted and called it a "first class job."

Hullinger married his present wife in 1952 and they have another son, born last year. The doctor thinks his family is about complete now.

"We're both going to behave ourselves," he said.

25 Hiroshima Maidens Arrive For Face Surgery

NEW YORK (UP)—The 25 bomb-scarred Hiroshima maidens arrived here today to begin a year of plastic surgery operations after a four-day flight from Japan.

The girls, who range in age from 17 to 31, stepped wearily from an Air Force C54 at Mitchell Air Force Base and posed willingly for photographers from considerable distance. When Cameramen moved in for closeups, several of the Japanese atom bomb victims buried their faces in their hands.

"I'm not too expectant," Michiko Sako, one of the maidens, said through an interpreter. "If I expect too much of the surgery, I'll be disappointed. But I am so happy to be in New York and I'm very anxious to see America."

They were dressed in Western-style clothing. Most of the girls are severely scarred on the face and neck. They will have a series of operations at Mt. Sinai Hospital, which a spokesman for the sponsoring groups said would cost more than $250,000 under regular hospital plastic surgery charges.

They're Only Survivors

They were brought here by the cooperation of Mt. Sinai Hospital and three sponsoring organizations. Their first stop after leaving the air base, where they were met by a welcoming committee representing their sponsors and the city government, was at the hospital.

"This afternoon they will meet the doctors who will treat them at an informal reception," a spokesman said. "Then they will go to an undisclosed hotel for two days."

After that they will have 10 days at a retreat about 50 miles from New York before they return here to begin their surgery.

The girls were accompanied by three Japanese physicians, two interpreters and the Japanese Methodist minister who helped them gain courage to face strangers after they were disfigured. Twelve of them were classmates who had been sent to the school basement to clean craters when the bomb hit Hiroshima 10 years ago. They were the only survivors in the school.

Billy Earl Ross, 31, Dies While Visiting At Carrier Mills

A young man living in Chicago died yesterday on a visit to Carrier Mills.

He was Billy Earl Ross, 31, unmarried, who resided in the same apartment building in Chicago with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mottinger Jr., formerly of Carrier Mills.

Coroner Elmer M. Gibbons said the Mottingers came down to Carrier Mills to visit Mottinger's relatives and that Ross came along for the trip.

Saturday night, Gibbons said, Ross became ill and complained of pains in his stomach and left shoulder.

He remained in bed Sunday and at 5 p. m. he suffered a severe heart attack, dying about a half hour later.

His body was taken to the Miller funeral home and this morning an ambulance from the funeral home took the body to Rossville, his former home, near Danville.

Brother-in-Law of Mrs. Daisy M. Seright Dies in California

R. T. Jenkins of San Pedro, Calif., brother-in-law of Mrs. Daisy M. Seright of Harrisburg, died Sunday evening at San Pedro, and funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Jenkins had visited Harrisburg on occasions, although not in recent years. He was known to several people from this area who had been in California at times when Mrs. Seright was there.

Mrs. Seright and her sister, Mrs. Rals David of Logansport, Ind., left last Monday for San Pedro on receipt of word of Mr. Jenkins' critical illness. He had not been in good health for two or three years.

Dulles Welcomes Adenauer at Council Session

Western Big Three To Meet Molotov In Vienna Saturday

PARIS (UP)—West Germany entered the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in an historic and moving ceremony today that permitted the West to move forward more boldly in its efforts to end the cold war with the Soviet.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and the 13 other NATO foreign ministers welcomed West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in a warm and friendly NATO Council session at the Palais de Chaillot.

Moving swiftly, the Big Three foreign ministers—U. S. British and French—then conferred with French Premier Edgar Faure over lunch. Afterward French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay announced:

"The Western Big Three foreign ministers will meet Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov in Vienna on Saturday and probably sign the Austrian state treaty on Sunday."

Dulles Gives Warning

Dulles, Pinay and British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan had proposed the signing Friday. But Faure told newsmen that Molotov had answered that he preferred to have the signing Sunday.

The Western foreign ministers will meet him beforehand on Saturday. However, authoritative sources said Dulles warned a plenary session of the NATO Council that the Soviet Union's foreign policy remains unchanged, despite its apparent willingness to sign a treaty restoring Austria's independence.

Dulles said that although the atmosphere between East and West appeared somewhat improved, there was no change of heart or purpose in the Kremlin.

A "Purified Nation"

Therefore, he said, the West must maintain its vigilance and wait for further developments.

He characterized the Soviet's about-face on the Austrian treaty issue merely the result of the West's decision to adopt the Paris accords, giving West Germany its sovereignty and the right to rearm.

Adenauer pledged his "transformed and purified" nation to fight with the West to safeguard freedom and human dignity.

Germany's resurgence as a major power was emphasized by Adenauer's meeting with the Western leaders and in a ceremony at NATO headquarters outside Paris as Germany's flag joined those of the other 14 nations.

"The German people have paid harshly for the horrors which were committed in their name by blind and evil leadership," Adenauer said. "These sufferings have transformed and purified the German nation."

Dulles, one of the 14 foreign ministers to welcome Germany to the Western alliance, said "We see here a demonstration of the capacity of the Atlantic peoples to submerge ancient differences. . . . We now welcome to our company the Federal Republic of Germany. We rejoice that the defense of freedom is thus enlarged and strengthened."

Big Four Conference?

Conference sources predicted the United States, Britain and France would send another invitation within 48 hours to the Soviet to attend a full-scale Big Four conference this summer or fall.

The only hitch in the Big Four meeting was a split between the United States and Britain over whether it should be "at the summit"—a meeting of the heads of state—or at the foreign ministers level. Britain was pressing for a meeting of government leaders in Switzerland probably around July 20.

Max Burg, Prominent Southern Illinois Merchant, Dies

BENTON, Ill. (UP)—Max Burg, 66, prominent southern Illinois merchant, died in a Benton hospital Sunday after suffering a heart attack. Burg operated a dress shop in West Frankfort for nearly 40 years. Funeral services will be held in Benton Tuesday night. Burial will be in St. Louis Thursday.

Information is often misinformation. Character is the great essential and the fear of the Lord is his chief support.

One Out of Every 17

This is a hazardous life we lead, even without the Communists pestering us directly. While going about their ordinary and extraordinary affairs in 1954, some 91,000 Americans were killed in accidents.

That's not quite as bad as 1953, when the death toll from all mishaps was 95,000. But it's certainly not a cheerful report.

Moreover, about 9,200,000 people were injured and the estimated economic loss from all this human damage came to $10 billion.

The National Safety Council, which compiles these figures, notes that 36,300 of the accident deaths were traffic fatalities. That represented a 5 per cent drop from last year's 38,300, and the lowest figure since 1930. With both the population and the number of cars on the road increasing steadily, this would seem to be one of the brighter spots in the report.

Yet, however much improved the percentages may look both for motor accidents and other categories, the grand total still is staggering. And the council reminds that one out of every 17 Americans last year suffered a disabling injury.

We worry a lot about not sending "our boys" to die again on foreign soil. But far more Americans than have been lost in wars rise from their beds each year and go forth to die on highways, on stairways, in bathtubs, on staircases, on icy sidewalks, and countless other ways.

Our statesmen are striving to make the world safe for democracy. We've got a lot to do just to make it safe—period.

This Caps 'Em All

Ever since World War II ended, it has been a common complaint of our public servants in the Pentagon and State Department that they have to spend too much time trotting up to Capitol Hill to testify before congressional committees.

At times in recent years the situation got so bad that certain high officials hardly saw their office desks except during extra evening hours.

Now comes the capping irony. Senator Capehart of Indiana says he thinks it's a shame the way these bureaucrats go traipsing up to the Hill all the time.

That's really pretty funny. The lawmakers summon the bureaucrats so often their offices seem like vacation spots. And then somebody bawls them out for answering the endless calls.

The Motillon Indians in the region of Lake Maracaibo, Venezuela, are believed to be the only people in the world who have no dogs.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Republican Governors Won't "Buy" Nixon For President; Balky Solicitor General Can Become A Judge Any Time; Diehard Oystermen For Admirals Costs Taxpayers $2,000 Annually.

WASHINGTON. — Top Republican governors in Washington this week rebelled privately but vigorously against the idea of accepting Vice President Nixon as the GOP candidate if Ike doesn't run.

Informing that the President had been told to sell "this boy Dick," GOP governors threw up their hands. "They remembered the all too recent Gallup poll showing Kefauver running far ahead of Nixon in a test presidential heat. And no matter how much Ike likes Dick, GOP politics are making it clear they don't like Dick themselves."

It was to sell Nixon that Ike bowed out of the proposed trip to San Francisco for the 10th anniversary of the United Nations. The excuse Eisenhower gave was that his schedule was too crowded. When San Francisco checked his schedule, however, they found it was not crowded, but that Ike was just pushing Nixon to the fore instead.

Note — Simultaneous word from the White House continues to be that Ike just doesn't want to run and that it will take more than a team of horses to pull him into the race.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE — It's a safe prediction that Anthony Eden will win the British elections. He should gain around 90 seats. . . . The Federal Reserve Board is seriously considering increasing margin rates on the stock market again — this time up to 80 per cent. . . . Senator Fulbright of Arkansas will stage a full-dress probe of proxy fights. The Wolfson battle with Montgomery Ward will be a feature. . . . Arkansas were amused when Carroll Cone, Washington lobbyist and vice president of Pan American Airways, made a speech in Little Rock urging Senator McClellan of Arkansas for president. If McClellan hadn't been featured in the McCarthy hearings last spring, he would have been a dead duck politically.

even in Arkansas. . . . able Solicitor General Simon Sobeloff, who refused to sign one of Attorney General Brownell's "witch hunting" briefs before the Supreme Court, can have a judgeship anytime he wants it. . . . Thurman Arnold, when assistant attorney general, got a U. S. circuit judgeship when he started to prosecute Pan American Airways during the Roosevelt administration. Harlan F. Stone, attorney general under Coolidge, got a Supreme Court judgeship when he started to prosecute the Aluminum Corporation of America. Justice Department officials who are conscientious but don't conform politically get judgeships handed them on a silver platter no matter what political party is in power. . . . Politics recall that it was after Adlai Stevenson publicly blasted Senator McCarthy that the White House belatedly lowered the boom on Joe; also, after Stevenson blasted dawning over Quemoys Matsui that Eisenhower got busy on a cease-fire.

OYSTER ADMIRALS
It looks as if the chief beneficiaries from the oyster digging by Navy men at government expense near Newport News, Va., were the admirals. An investigation by the Navy at Cheatham Annex, Va., recently reported by this column, shows that for years civilian workers have been employed by the Navy Department at the taxpayers expense to dig oysters and send them to the high brass in Washington and Norfolk.

Although junior officers were officially cited in the investigation report, it now develops that among the admirals who got the oysters were Vice Adm. "Oyster Forks Charley" Fox, Rear Adm. John Ends Wood, former commander of the Norfolk supply center, and Adm. T. Earle Hipp, also stationed in Norfolk.

Admiral Wood, now retired and living at Elkins Park, Pa., was quite frank in admitting that he relished oysters. "Did you know, Admiral," he was asked by this column, "that oyster digging was going on at Cheatham Annex?" "Yes," said the admiral, "as a matter of fact I received a quart personally every once in a while. But as far as I knew, they were being gathered during off-duty hours."

"Did you assume, Admiral, that the employees at Cheatham were volunteering their free time to supply oysters for Navy officers?" "Well," parried the admiral, "there are all kinds of good things down in that part of the country—fish, oysters, lobsters. I just assumed some of the officers went out on week ends and picked up these oysters."

Actually, oyster digging for the benefit of admirals by Navy personnel cost the taxpayers about $2,000 a year.

CONSUMER CHAMPION
It isn't often that a high-up official who loses his job goes back home to run for humble office. Usually he sets up a plush law firm in Washington, or becomes a lobbyist or just rusticates.

However, Tom Buchanan, hard-hitting former chairman of the Federal Power Commission, has gone back to his home town of Beaver, Pa., to run for judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

Buchanan is the FPC chairman who did almost more than any other one man to protect consumers of natural gas and electricity from the big gas and power companies. As a result, Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, champion of the big gas companies and an oil-gas millionaire himself, helped knock him off the FPC. However, Buchanan is continuing his battle for the consumer by testifying currently against the new camouflage Kerr bill (now called the Harris bill) even at the risk of having southwest oil and gas money follow him to western Pennsylvania to get revenge.

He lived with his five brothers and sisters at Ferris, Ill., 240 miles from Chicago. He had to be careful because only skin grafts and a plastic helmet protected his skull. But he could play with the other children and was developing into a smarter-than-average 3-year-old. His parents have spent most of their time at Ferris during their latest ordeal. But they came here for a 45-minute visit when they heard Rodney Dee was better. The little boy's eyes opened and flitted from the face of one parent to the other.

Although junior officers were officially cited in the investigation report, it now develops that among the admirals who got the oysters were Vice Adm. "Oyster Forks Charley" Fox, Rear Adm. John Ends Wood, former commander of the Norfolk supply center, and Adm. T. Earle Hipp, also stationed in Norfolk.

Admiral Wood, now retired and living at Elkins Park, Pa., was quite frank in admitting that he relished oysters. "Did you know, Admiral," he was asked by this column, "that oyster digging was going on at Cheatham Annex?" "Yes," said the admiral, "as a matter of fact I received a quart personally every once in a while. But as far as I knew, they were being gathered during off-duty hours."

"Did you assume, Admiral, that the employees at Cheatham were volunteering their free time to supply oysters for Navy officers?" "Well," parried the admiral, "there are all kinds of good things down in that part of the country—fish, oysters, lobsters. I just assumed some of the officers went out on week ends and picked up these oysters."

Actually, oyster digging for the benefit of admirals by Navy personnel cost the taxpayers about $2,000 a year.

CONSUMER CHAMPION
It isn't often that a high-up official who loses his job goes back home to run for humble office. Usually he sets up a plush law firm in Washington, or becomes a lobbyist or just rusticates.

However, Tom Buchanan, hard-hitting former chairman of the Federal Power Commission, has gone back to his home town of Beaver, Pa., to run for judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

Buchanan is the FPC chairman who did almost more than any other one man to protect consumers of natural gas and electricity from the big gas and power companies. As a result, Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, champion of the big gas companies and an oil-gas millionaire himself, helped knock him off the FPC. However, Buchanan is continuing his battle for the consumer by testifying currently against the new camouflage Kerr bill (now called the Harris bill) even at the risk of having southwest oil and gas money follow him to western Pennsylvania to get revenge.

He lived with his five brothers and sisters at Ferris, Ill., 240 miles from Chicago. He had to be careful because only skin grafts and a plastic helmet protected his skull. But he could play with the other children and was developing into a smarter-than-average 3-year-old. His parents have spent most of their time at Ferris during their latest ordeal. But they came here for a 45-minute visit when they heard Rodney Dee was better. The little boy's eyes opened and flitted from the face of one parent to the other.

For Mrs. Brodie, it was the best Mother's Day present in the world.

Stonefort Man Found Guilty on Driving Charge

County Judge Trafton Dennis this morning found Jack Stacy of Stonefort guilty of a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of alcohol following a non-jury trial held before him. Stacy was represented by Atty. Arlie O. Boswell and the prosecution by State's Attorney K. C. Ronalds and John W. Biggers, assistant state's attorney.

The defendant was arrested Oct. 23, 1954, by State Police Sergeant Murray Stinson and Sheriff Paul Spangler following a minor collision at Pauper Crossing on Route 45 south of Harrisburg.

Both men testified that Stacy was under the influence of liquor, that his face was flushed, his tongue was thick, he talked incoherently and that the smell of alcohol was definitely present on him.

Stacy said he was not under the influence, that the last drink he had taken was several hours previously at his home.

In finding Stacy guilty and fining him $150 and costs Judge Dennis deplored the lack of evidence brought into the case, declaring that the defendant especially should have brought in the other principals of the collision to testify in his behalf if he were not intoxicated, as he contended.

Four Persons Killed in Crash

WOODBURY, N. Y.—Four persons, including two little girls in their first communion dresses on their way to a Mother's Day party, were killed Sunday in an automobile-truck crash.

Two other passengers in the car were seriously injured and the two men in the truck were treated for shock.

Police identified the dead as Emil Rossi, 40; his daughter, Linda, 7; Mrs. Rose Lusardi, 37, Rossi's sister, and her daughter, Tina, 6, all of Brooklyn.

The girls were wearing the dresses in which they made their first communion Saturday and were going to their grandparents' home for a Mother's Day dinner.

The accident occurred when the Rossi car and the truck, operated by Nicholas Calia, 33, skidded on a rain-soaked street and crashed head-on.

Illinois Traffic Accidents Kill 15 Persons

By United Press

Traffic accidents claimed at least 15 lives in Illinois during the week.

Two persons died in a head-on crash in Villa Park near Chicago Sunday. They were R. T. Kohout, 31, Crystal Lake, and Mrs. Myron Homiak, Elmhurst. Mrs. Homiak's husband was hurt critically.

A trip to a bowling tournament in Chicago ended in tragedy for Frank Grgrich, 35, Taylorville. He was killed in a mishap near Lexington as he returned from Chicago tourney where he had just won $1,200.

Five others, including three other bowlers, were hurt. Grgrich was riding in a car driven by John Babbich, Taylorville, which collided with the auto of Herman J. Wood, 32, Tower Hill, as Babbich turned off U. S. 66. Babbich was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Helen Dodson, 21, Mount Vernon, was killed Sunday when her car left the pavement on U. S. 51 near Central.

Clarence Sharp, 22, Paragould, Ark., died when his auto struck a tree on U. S. 41 Saturday night after it sideswiped a truck south of Waukegan. Two other persons were injured and hospitalized at Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

Others killed Sunday included

James Mirous, 67, Stickney; Donald Stevenson, 16, Chicago; Mrs. Catherine Koski, 27, Chicago, and Edgar Green, 7 months, Chicago.

Wayman Burks, 8, Toluca, was injured fatally Saturday when he ran into a street chasing a ball and was struck by a car. Police identified the driver as Mrs. Arthur Schoepk. An inquest will be held Wednesday.

Winkelman's Jewelry To Award Watch to Lucky HTS Graduate

'Round and 'round it goes and where it stops nobody knows—or something like that.

Anyhow, the clock in Winkelman's jewelry store window will be wound in a few days and when it stops the hand will be on the name of a lucky member of the Class of 1955 of Harrisburg Township high school.

The winner will receive either a woman's or man's Gruen wrist watch.

This is the eighth year that Winkelman's store has awarded a watch in this manner. The clock with the eight-day movement will be wound about May 12 and the hand will go 'round and 'round, finally stopping on some name. Usually the eight-day clock runs about 10 days before it stops.

There are 145 names on the face of the clock.

As a tasty accompaniment to a bowl of hot clear soup, cover salted crackers with grated American cheese. Sprinkle with curry powder and put under broiler just long enough for the cheese to bubble.

Truman Breaks Library Ground On 71st Birthday

INDEPENDENCE, Mo.—Former President Harry S. Truman celebrated his 71st birthday Sunday with the fulfillment of his fondest dream—the start of construction for the Truman Memorial Library on a site near where he spent his boyhood.

Mr. Truman surrounded by old friends, and with a smile to match the sunny weather, broke ground for the $1,750,000 structure with a gold-plated spade.

The library, which will house the former president's official papers and mementos, will be constructed in Slover Park. Mr. Truman originally intended that the building be constructed on the site of the old Truman family farm in nearby Grandview, Mo. But the people of Independence insisted that it be built on its present site, within 10 blocks of Mr. Truman's home.

Mr. Truman, looking robust and dapper in a double-breasted blue suit and gray hat, was accompanied to the ceremonies by Mrs. Truman, their daughter Margaret and the former president's sister Miss Mary Jane Truman. The ladies watched as Mr. Truman turned the first shovelful of earth to fulfill a long-time dream.

The ground-breaking ceremony was followed by a large reception at the Truman house in the afternoon. Sunday night the former president was honored at a partially-televized $8-per-plate dinner for 600 in Kansas City, in an atmosphere of an old-fashioned birthday party.

West City Loses Glitter as Taverns Close on Sunday

WEST CITY, Ill.—The row of white-fronted taverns in this Franklin County village were quiet and practically deserted Sunday, the first day of the village's new Sunday "blue law."

West City is separated from Benton by a street and has long been an oasis for Sunday drinkers in Franklin County, where Sunday closing laws apply to taverns in many communities. Last week the village trustees passed an ordinance ordering the 10 taverns and 1 liquor store to close on Sunday.

The taverns responded with a brief boycott on renewing their licenses which provide a good share of the village income. Tavern licenses cost $800 per year and the package store pays $400 yearly.

Special Services This Evening by Methodist Youth

The Methodist Youth Fellowship will be in charge of the first of the evening services for the special week of programs at the First Methodist church tonight at 7:30. Services each night this week are open to the public and all are urged to attend and participate.

The Youth Night program is as follows: Prelude, Mrs. Robert Norman; Song, "Are Ye Able" No. 268; The Church of My Dreams by Jane Lasersohn; Anthem, Youth Choir; Worship, Mary Schwartz; Prayer, Bob Harmon; Solo, Oran Brown; It Really Happened, Patsy Foster; Anthem, Youth Choir; The Importance of the Church, Judy Morse; Solo, "The Lord's Prayer," Barbara Dunn; Prayer, Bill Skaggs; MYF Benediction.

Congress Group Study Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Senate House subcommittee disclosed today that possible individual income tax cuts is a top subject in its planned year-long review of overall tax policy.

Other changes, including possible upward or downward revisions in corporate income rates and outright repeal of excise taxes, also are listed for study.

Wyoming ranked first for entertaining non-resident hunters during the 1953-54 fiscal year. It played host to 30,788 visiting hunters.

DEATH OF A LEGEND

By WILL HENRY

Copyright 1954 by Will Henry. Used by arrangement with Random House, Inc. Distributed by NEA Service.

THE STORY: Because local law enforcement officers seem unable to cope with Jesse James and his gang, the Pinkerton detective agency has been engaged to track down the robbers by the Missouri Bankers Association.

XIV

In the weeks succeeding the Logan County robbery, the Pinkerton's top operative, the famous A. B. "Yankee" Bligh, took up the trail.

Bligh got on the trail of Big George Shepherd, ran him down to Nelson County, Missouri, cornered him in a farmer's farmhouse, wounded him in a running gunfight, captured him alive and put him away for three years in the Missouri State Prison.

The Pinkerton detective ran him down in a second farmhouse, only a few miles from the Samuel place at Centerville. Refusing surrender, Oll made an early-dawn dash for the surrounding woods and freedom. Bligh's posse caught him there. They buried him where he fell.

Yankee Bligh expanded the second name on his seven-man list, headed back for Kentucky where his fellow Pinkertons had located Jesse himself. News of Oll Shepherd's death reached Jesse before Bligh did.

Frank went quietly and directly to California, by Overland Stage and horseback, out the Oregon Trail. Jesse traveled in style, riding the cars to New York, seeing the big city sights on his Norton & Long expense account, taking first-class passage via steamship for Panama, and then going to San Francisco.

Tradition has the brothers hiding the year away as outpatients in a sanitarium operated by an uncle on the James side, in Paso Robles. And spending the long months tenderly searching for the lost grave of their "beloved clergyman father," who, according to local accounts, had been buried somewhere near Marysville, Calif.

Zerelda Mimms sat by the front window of her father's farmhouse, staring into the December twilight. It was the third day of the month, and her birthday. By the calendar she was 21. And by any other witness, a woman full and beautifully grown.

Through the lonely years, she had seen Jesse but a few times. Each of the hurried meetings had been the same — short, fleeting, midnight affairs, with bandit look-outs posted along both approaches of the North Kansas City Road, and with the hulking, faithful Cole Younger holding Jesse's saddled horse in the rutted wagon tracks beyond the catalpa tree.

A blood member of the James clan, she was of course aware of his crimes. And because she was a member of that clan, she accepted the family view of Jesse's career, the view of Zerelda Samuel. The view, since his ambush and near death outside Lexington, had been that Jesse, far from being a criminal, was a hounded and hunted Southern hero. From the day of her misguided advice that he turn himself openly over to the Federal authorities, the harsh-faced matriarch of the clan had become a full champion of her outlaw son's insistence that his war was still with the Union, and that his bank-raid killings were conducted solely on the old Biblical principle of an eye for an eye and a life for a life.

Only that morning Mrs. Samuel had brought her the happiest present of the day — news, at long last of her missing love. The letter had been posted from Marysville, Calif., three weeks earlier. It was addressed to Jesse's mother, and meant for her, all save that wonderful nine-word postscript: "Ma, please let Zee know I am coming home!"

Zerelda heard the ring of the horse's hoofs on the frozen dirt of the front drive. One thing about men you could always depend on, John Mimms no less than any other; they never failed to show up at suppertime.

When she heard the quick lightness of the booted tread on the snowcrust of the rear stoop, she knew it was not John Mimms, but when the hesitant knock came a moment later she answered it. "Jesse! Cousin Jesse!"

"Shhh!" Jesse put an exaggerated finger to his lips, stepped grinningly past her, heeled the curtained door quickly shut. "You want to scare up every Pinkerton in Clay County?"

"Oh, Jesse, Jesse!" The tears came then and the clumsy humor of his entrance was washed embarrassingly away in his fall.

"Hush, Zee, honey. Don't cry like that. Now, please!"

He took her in his arms, holding her close and hard, neither of them saying anything, or needing to.

The lips were still together when the iron tattoo of the galloping hoofbeats broke Zerelda away from him in sudden fear.

"Rest easy, now," he grinned quickly. "It's only Cole."

The door opened without a knock. Cole Younger only nodded quickly and did not come in.

"Sorry, Zee, old girl," he grinned. "Hope I didn't bust up anything that might lead to wedding bells." Then, grin flicking out like

Cold Front Drops Temperatures

By United Press
A May cold wave dropped temperatures 10 to 20 degrees in the eastern Great Lakes and Ohio Valley today and spread a band of showers and thunderstorms from North Dakota to Texas.

Oklahoma dust bowl areas got drenching rains, hitting peaks of more than 4 inches at Marshall and 1.20 at Hebron.

In Texas, tornadic winds whipped an area east and southeast of Colorado City, blowing down telephone poles, smashing a tree across a pickup truck, and strewn sheet iron and roofs over a wide area.

A trimmed lamp: "Grab your hat, Dingus. We got company up the road."

"The Pinkertons!" Zerelda's frightened gasp went unanswered. She got neither look nor nod from either man.

"Well," blinked Jesse, suddenly high-voiced, "if they're so set on smelling something, we'll raise them a stink they won't get out of their nostrils for six months. Let's go, Cole."

The only answer to Zerelda's single, broken cry of "Jesse!" was the whoop and howl of the December wind.

Wife of Ted Williams is Granted Divorce

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The wife of Ted Williams, former big league baseball star, was granted a divorce today but the Boston slugger said he still has no "immediate plans" to return to the Red Sox.
Williams promptly walked across the court chambers to thank his wife's attorney for "being big league all the way" in the long complex marital squabbles.
The outfielder's return to the Boston team was believed to hinge on the outcome of the lengthy legal negotiations which began in January, 1954, when his wife first filed for separate maintenance.
"I have no plans," the deeply tanned batting star of the American League said.
Circuit Judge George E. Holt granted a divorce to the attractive brunette woman, but said he will take the financial arrangements under advisement.
"We just didn't get along," she sighed. "I don't think Ted ever wanted to be married."

Williams sat restlessly during the brief hearing. He often stared at his hands or tinkered with his wrist watch.
Mrs. Williams, the former Doris R. Soule, Princeton, Minn., was married to the baseball star on May 4, 1944, at Pensacola, Fla., while Williams was a naval cadet. In her original suit for separate maintenance, she sought custody of a daughter, Barbara Joyce, and a property settlement.
She charged in her original action that Williams "mistreated and abused" her and often used "profane, abusive and obscene" language. But today under questioning she admitted that Williams had been sending her $125 a week and had been paying the bills for taxes, car expenses and "emergencies."

HTHS Tennis Team Wins Dist. Meet

The Harrisburg Bull Dog tennis team won the district meet at Murphysboro Saturday with four local boys being eligible to enter state competition at Champaign May 20 and 21. L. H. Moore, coach, reported today.
Bill Bottomley was first and Don McGown was second in singles matches and the local doubles team of David Pfister and Mike Hays was second.
Two local players, Charles Polk and Charles Cummins, a doubles team, lost out to Carmi.
The locals brought home a trophy for piling up the most points in the meet. Harrisburg, Carmi, Carbondale, Murphysboro and Chester participated.
The Bull Dogs will play Flora here May 17 and will meet Carmi here on a date to be announced.

The hippodrome, opened by Barnum in 1873, was supplanted by Madison Square Garden in 1890.

CAPTAIN EAST

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

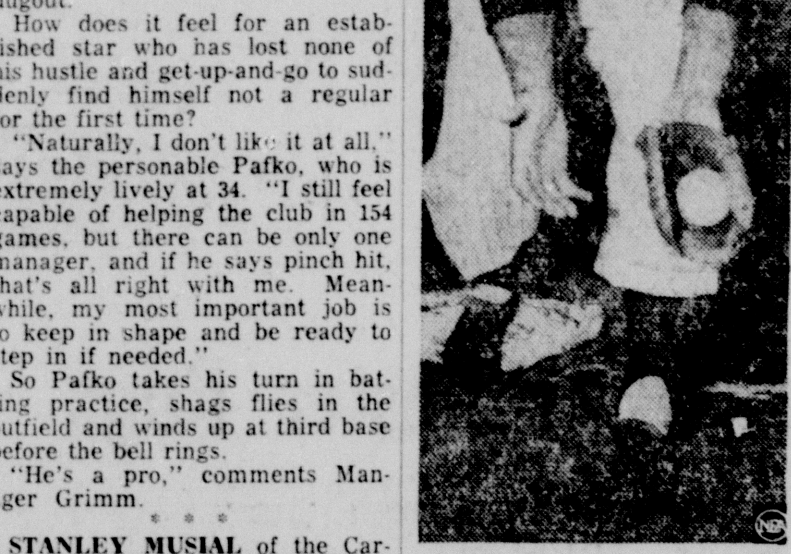

With Andy Pafko on Bench, Milwaukee Braves Have to Be Good

NEW YORK (NEA)—While the Braves ran up that string of consecutive scoreless innings, Andy Pafko was their hardest worker—before games.
Pafko, you see, has been benched for the first time in a 12-year major league career.
There were early indications that the Milwaukee club would not live up to all the nice things said about it during the training season.
"But the Braves have to be good," said Buzzy Bavasi of the Dodgers. "How can they be anything but extra special when a player like Pafko can't crack the starting lineup?"
The Brooks sold Pafko to the Braves in January of 1953 for $50,000 and a player.
At least four clubs would give Lou Perini that much for him today.
Here is a World Series center fielder who plays third base equally well.
Pafko helped the Cubs to a pennant as a center fielder in 1945, led National league third basemen in double plays with the same club three years later. When the Dodgers required an outfielder in mid-June of 1951, General Manager Bavasi obtained Pafko in a seven-player transaction that left Chicago limp. Beaten in the play-off that fall, the Superbas won with the Boyceville, Wis., milkman in 1952.

WHILE YOUNG HENRY AARON made it perfectly clear that he intended to stick before the Braves broke camp a year ago, there was plenty of room for Pafko after Bobby Thomson fractured his ankle. But with the return of Thomson this spring, Charley Grimm decided that there was no where for Pafko to go but to the dugout.
How does it feel for an established star who has lost none of his hustle and get-up-and-go to suddenly find himself not a regular for the first time?
"Naturally, I don't like it at all," says the personable Pafko, who is extremely lively at 34. "I still feel capable of helping the club in 154 games, but there can be only one manager, and if he says pinch hit, that's all right with me. Meanwhile, my most important job is to keep in shape and be ready to step in if needed."
So Pafko takes his turn in batting practice, shags flies in the outfield and winds up at third base before the bell rings.
"He's a pro," comments Manager Grimm.

STANLEY MUSIAL of the Cardinals remarked that the Braves' attack would be improved with Pafko in the batting order.

Turfmen Ask If Swaps Will Run Preakness

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A half-mile from a woman's shoe played a major role in Swaps' stunning victory in the richest Kentucky Derby of them all.
Before shipping the handsome chestnut colt back to California Sunday, trainer M. A. Tenney revealed Swaps was nursing a tender right front foot only two days before the Derby.
"I wanted to give him a good workout just before the Derby," said Tenney, "but the foot hurt him and we only let him gallop. Later I pulled the shoe off and reset a piece of leather—it's actually a half-sole from a woman's shoe—under his hoof and renailed the plate."
"I guess I got it set just right because the foot didn't seem to bother him after that," Tenney added.
If Swaps did have a sore foot he certainly didn't show it on Derby day. With Wee Willie Shoemaker urging him on, the California colt grabbed an early lead and then hot-footed it out from the rest of the field to defeat favored Nashua by a length-and-a-half.
As the train carrying Swaps, Tenney and owner Rex Ellsworth headed towards California, turfmen everywhere were wondering if the Derby hero and Nashua will hook up again in the Preakness at old Pimlico, May 28.
Nashua, who also left Louisville by train Sunday for New York, is a definite starter for the second of the triple crown races, barring any mishap. Swaps was not named for the Preakness, but Ellsworth can enter the colt by posting a $7,500 supplementary nomination fee.
Summer Tan, who finished third in the Derby, also is a likely starter for the Preakness, along with Racing Fool (fourth in the Derby), Flying Fury (sixth) and Honey's Alibi (seventh). The non-Derby entries (who also might take a crack at Pimlico's $100,000 added purse are Boston Doge, Saratoga, Nance's Lad, Chuck Thompson, Dedicate and Sailor.
As turfmen reviewed the latest Derby running most were willing to admit that they never thought Swaps would be able to fight off a fast-closing horse like Nashua. But the whole story was found in the fractional clockings.
Swaps checked off the last half mile of Saturday's race in 49 2/5 seconds. No Derby winner before him, not even Whirlaway, who holds the classic record of 2:01 2/5, ever ran as fast over the last four furlongs. The California's final clocking was 2:01 4/5 only two-fifths of a second off Whirlaway's mark.
Ellsworth pocketed $108,400 as the winning owner's share of the Derby's gross purse of $152,500. A former Mormon missionary, Ellsworth said he would donate 10 percent of the rich prize for church work.

Stars Suffer First Defeat, 2-1, At Cartersville
The Harrisburg Stars suffered their first defeat of the season Sunday afternoon at Cartersville, losing a well played game 2-1 to the host All-Stars.
Lefty Jack Nolen went the distance for Harrisburg and batted in the team's only tally. He allowed three hits, walked three and hit one batsman during the nine inning slug on the mound.
Noakes was on the hill for Cartersville and was touched for eight hits and walked one.
Cartersville scored a run in the first inning on a single, walk and another single.
In the fifth Harrisburg tied the count at 1-1, but in the bottom part of the fifth Cartersville scored again to take the 2-1 lead and that was the game.
Rod Smith of Harrisburg paced all hitters with three safe blows in four tries. Jack Nolen, Harrisburg pitcher and Chew, Cartersville outfielder, each had to for four. Others in the hitting column for Harrisburg were Cowger, Garrison and Ken Nolen.
Next Sunday Harrisburg will travel to Edwardsville to play the strong Colored Giants who have the reputation as one of the strongest clubs in the tri-state area.
On May 22 Harrisburg will play at Uniontown, Ky., and May 29 will be host to the Cartersville All Stars at the Harrisburg town park diamond.

Opening of Stock Car Racing Program Is Postponed

Threatening weather curtailed the opening stock car racing program Saturday night at the Saline Speedway.
Cool weather and the prospects of rain held down the number of cars and spectators, so after three events the program was called off, rain checks passed out to the fans and announcement made that a full program would be presented next Saturday, May 14.
In the time trials Glen Gibbs paced the field, followed by Bill Shetler and Floyd Barnes for second and third place honors.
Gibbs drove the 97 across the line first in the opening heat with Barnes and Henry Hancock in second and third places.
In the second heat and final event of the night, Jerry Brinkley in the K-7 was first, Shetler second and Dean Mallard third.

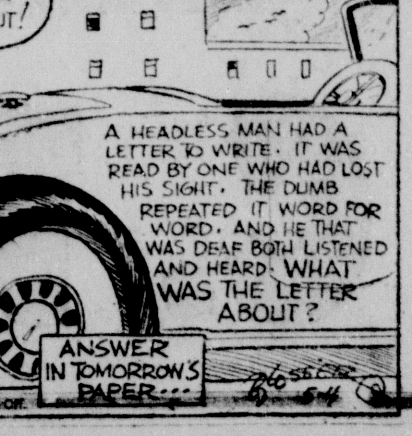

Don Mueller Nears Record With 21-Game Batting Streak

NEW YORK (AP)—Don Mueller, the New York Giant's spray-hitting right-fielder, closed in on a 25-year old club record today when he extended his batting streak to 21 games.
The record of 24 straight games was set by Fred Lindstrom in 1930.
Mueller has a long way to go, however, before he threatens either the National League record or the major league mark. The N. L. record of 37 straight games is held by Tommy Holmes of the 1945 Boston Braves, while the major league mark is 56, held by Joe DiMaggio of the 1941 Yankees.

Indians Take League Lead Ahead of 1954 Pace; Dodgers Win 21st with Only 2 Losses

They can't catch the Brooklyn Dodgers' astounding start but the Cleveland Indians today zoomed far ahead of the pace which carried them to a record 13 victories and the American league championship in 1954.
After their 9-6 and 2-1 sweep of the Kansas City Athletics Sunday, the Indians held a two-game first-place lead with a 17-7 record and .708 percentage. Just a year ago today they were in third place with a 12-8 mark and a .600 percentage. They didn't take the lead until May 16.
Right-fielder Al Smith and first-baseman Al Rosen were the stars as the Indians achieved a tied four-game winning streak and reeled off their ninth victory in 10 games. The sweep was the Indians' second of this season. They took 13 of 19 bargain bills last year.
Smith hammered out three home runs during the doubleheader. He mustered a pair of two-run blows as the Tribe backed back from an early 5-0 deficit in the opener and then broke rookie Art Ceccarelli's spell with a third homer which produced a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning of the nightcap.
Rosen Breaks Doubleheader
The deadlock lasted until the 11th inning when Rosen, filling in at first base for Vic Wertz, blasted his fifth round-tripper. Art Houtteman gained credit for his third win in relief of Bob Feller in the first game while Ray Nariski, Cleveland's third pitcher, was the winner in the second contest.

The runaway Dodgers rolled to their 21st victory in 23 games, 9-8 over the Philadelphia Phillies. Gil Hodges hit a two-run homer and Duke Snider a grand-slammer as the Dodgers built a 9-2 lead. The Phillies battled back in the late innings before Jim Hughes finally stopped them and sealed their ninth straight defeat—high for the 1955 campaign.
The New York Yankees finally caught up with "Jinx" pitcher, Willard Nixon in a 5-0 win over the Boston Red Sox and the Chicago White Sox downed the Detroit Tigers, 5-4 and 1-0 in a pair of thrillers. The Washington Senators crushed the Baltimore Orioles, 15-7, after a 4-3 loss in the other A. L. games.
Bob Grim, a 20-game winner in 1954, won his first 1955 game with ninth-inning relief aid from Jim Konstanty to give the Yankees their fourth consecutive win. Joe Collins and Hank Bauer homered off Nixon, who had beaten the Yankees six straight times and hadn't lost to them since Sept. 24, 1950.
Nelson Fox drove in the winning run with an 11th-inning single in the opener and tripled and scored the only run of the second game for the White Sox. Fox's second came hit enabled Dick Donovan to best Frank Lary in a fine duel of rookie pitchers.
Eddie Waitkus' two-run ninth-inning triple enabled the Orioles to win their opener but the Senators came back with a 15-hit attack featured by homers by Tom Umphlett and Jesse Levan in the second game.
Willie Mays had four hits and Don Mueller ran his hitting streak to 21 games as the New York Giants beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-3. The Pirates won the opener, 7-5, as Dick Groat, Gerry Lynch and Gene Freese homered.
In other N. L. games, Warren Spahn scattered 12 hits to give the Milwaukee Braves a 6-2 win and hand the St. Louis Cardinals their seventh straight setback, and the Cincinnati Redlegs beat the Chicago Cubs, 4-3, on Hobie Landrith's second homer of the game after Sam Jones won his third game for the Cubs, 5-3, in the opener.

Illinois, Indiana Split Doubleheader

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana split a Big Ten doubleheader with Illinois Saturday, winning the opener, 6-1, and dropping the seven-inning nightcap, 6-2.
The Hoosiers won the rain-delayed first game in the first inning on a bases loaded triple by Chuck Mead, driving in three runs. Illinois used the same formula in the second game when Don Lukaszewski tripled with the bases loaded in the fourth inning to drive home three runs.
